

PRIVACY

Gleeson & Partners will not collect personally identifying information about you except when you have knowingly provided it to us.

In order to monitor our website's performance, we may track your IP address and session time. This information cannot be used to identify you and remains anonymous.

Gleeson & Partners will not give, sell, trade or rent any personally identifiable information you may have provided us to a third party except where; (a) you have consented to this; (b) where it is reasonable that we do so in the provision of accounting or advisory services to you; or (c) where the law requires us to do so.

All questions, comments, or requests concerning this privacy policy should be sent to admin@gleesonandpartners.com.au.